When you're required to handle a 20-ton cargo container with flawless execution, establishing a solid bond of trust between client and operator is paramount. With over 75 years experience in cargo-handling operations, we've won the trust of over 1000 ship owners and charters from every major port in North America. When trust will play a deciding factor in your selection of a cargo-handling operator, you won't have to think twice about Empire Stevedoring— you'll know we've earned it.
